

Though they don't know it yet, the Bonus Committe met at my house last night and okayed doubling last year's totals. Except for the two new VPs. Give them a mil each. I thought this decision should be made prior to the Government takeover. Take it off their hands--a favor.

So the committe strolled up that lovely walked flanked with hostas. Sorta.

With what?

Hostas, a flower.

I don't know one fuckin one from the other. We hire a spick.